

Main Identity

From: "Jay Gutierrez" <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
 To: <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
 Sent: Sunday, October 28, 2007 1:07 PM
 Subject: Fw: Stones

Jodi is cancer free now.

Hello Jay,

I am 8J's daughter. I just wanted to let you know that my Mom forwarded your email to me and I working getting you an outline of my progress to this point.

I can give you a brief overview of what has been happening up to this point.

I was originally diagnosed with adult onset brainstem gliomas in December. On Dec 30th they implanted radio active seeds into the tumor. I received your stones sometime in January I believe. I have to be totally honest here I was really skeptical, but my Mom believes in this and the healing powers of "Jay's Rocks". I had used the stones haphazardly at best. I had faith in western medicine, the Doctor said that the seeds would eradicate the tumors so I figured six weeks would go by and I would be fine.

Well, six weeks went by and the tumor (actually it is a group of small tumors) were only reduced by about 30%, so the Doctor said more seeds and chemo. I have to be honest I turned to the stones not because I thought they would "cure" the cancer so to speak but more because I finally put two and two together and realized that they really helped with the pain. So I started sleeping with them and dipping them to my head with a hair dip during the day for pain relief. I really didn't want to do chemo, so I went 1x and then skipped one time, then I skipped the next time. The Doctor was a little peeved and did another CATSCAN to see where the tumor was and behold ... the unexplainable happened, I only have two small tumors left. So the Doctor wants to 'finish chemo'. I agreed to 4 more rounds of chemo and then another CATSCAN so we will see what that brings...

I have to tell you Jay I am a believer now! I used to call my former the VOODOO doctor because I just couldn't get my brother around to believe in her power that she possesses. I am so in awe of her and the way she works with people. I truly believe that it is her love for people that makes her so special. At any rate, there is the latest update of where I am,

Words can't possibly describe the gratitude I feel in my heart for you, thank you so much for the stones, I think they may have saved my life, I am certain that they saved me from a great deal of unbearable pain.

I will keep you updated....

Jodi

Main Identity

from: "Jay Gutierrez" <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
 To: <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
 Sent: Sunday, October 28, 2007 1:11 PM
 Attach: RE Jay Gutierrez.eml
 Subject: Stones

Ray is alive and well and living in Utah.

> Dear Madeleen Herreshoff,
 > I am glad to offer my experiences to the healing power of Jay's stones.
 > I need to give a brief medical history to help you understand my medical > history.
 > In the spring of 2001 I visited my urologist and I had enlarged prostate.
 > I put off seeing him again till after a family trip to Europe.
 > On the long flight back, I did not do much walking in the airplane. I was > obese and 80 lbs over weight.
 > On the flight back an aneurism broke in vessel behind my stomach. I was > not aware of this action till 6 months later, most of it in the hospital..
 > It took that long to locate the source of my internal bleeding.
 > I got out of the hospital in 2002. I was confined mostly to the house the > rest of the year.
 > I lost 80 lbs in the hospital.
 > In 2003 I was strong enough to revisit my urologist. He did a biopsy and > it turned out positive. The biopsy score was much lower than the lab > score of the removed prostate.
 > He operated and removed my prostate. The 20 pints of blood that I had > received in the hospital from my leaking aneurism drained down on my > pancreas and on to my prostate.
 > I am a brittle diabetic because of the damage to my pancreas by the > draining blood.
 > It took the doctor almost 2 hours to remove the enlarged organ. The > outer layer of the organ was harden and looked like a walnut shell per the > doctor. In the removal process he knew that he had spread cancer cells all > over the area where the prostate was because of the difficulty in the > removal process. He had the removed prostate examined in a lab and the > cancer growth was past the time to have removed the organ. The cancer > level was very high
 > I went back to urologist after 3 months to review the PSA score. it cmne > out to a minus 0.03something. I went back in 3 more months and the PSA > was a positive 0.02.
 > It was during that time that I had the pleasure of working with Jay. He > gave me a stone and I started to use it every night. I placed it in my > crotch area and slept with there. I always use the raw stones against my > skin. I use the stones to relieve many other pains in my body all of the > time. I currently sleep with 4 stones. Two in my crotch and 2 large > stones on other areas of my body that are hurting or the help maintain my > pancreas and keep a low PSA score.
 > I went back for another PSA test 3 months later. This test came out with

- > the same score of 0.02. I have continued to use the stone ever since Jay
- > introduced it to me. I am convinced the Jay's stones do offer pain relief
- > and have healing power in many other medical conditions.
- > My last PSA test was August of 2006. My score then was still 0.02. The
- > doctor is very happy and so are we.
- > I did drink some green tea for a while, but I can not verify that the tea
- > was any real help.
- > My next PSA test is April 10th. I will pass the test score on to Jay.
- > If you need more information, please feel free to contact me.
- > Regards,
- > RAY BONELLA

Main Identity

From: "Jay Gutierrez" <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
 To: <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
 Sent: Sunday, October 28, 2007 1:14 PM
 Subject: Fw: Hi Jay*

Ben also is living a normal life now.

> Hi Jay,
 > Blessings to you from Ben and I.
 > Ben and I want to thank you for the new mud pack!
 > Ben and I believe it is working, he has been painfree > in both hips and his tailbone area for the last three weeks.
 > (His doctor though the pain was due to the radiation treatments he had for > the > prostate cancer.)
 > Ben received your mud pack before I left town and has been very grateful > to > you > for your kindness and generosity.
 > He has been faithful in using the stone and mud pack daily > and at throughout the night.
 > The new pack is thinner and lighter in weight > and had alot more plastic around the outer edge > so Ben trimmed off some of the plastic to make it more comfortable to wear > down inside his underwear where the prostate would be in the front groin > area.
 > He has been using it every day since you sent the new one.
 > He even tried putting the old one (that he had blessed) on his tailbone > when > he was having alot of pain there and now the pain seems to have vanished.
 > On July 24th, his latest test results for his PSA > were down to where the doctor wanted it to be > at .01 and his testosterone level was at 47.
 >
 > I just got back into town July 30th and he showed me that his new mud pack > also had clumped together and was very hard in spots, > (it seems to have shifted the crystals inside to the bottom of pack).
 > He thinks he may have trimmed one edge a little too close and > perhaps let out some of the moisture or whatever makes it stay smooth > inside.
 > He's very sorry if he caused it to leak.
 > What do you think? Is this a problem?
 >
 > Peace be with you.
 > Sincerely yours,
 > Beth Gossmann and Ben McCulloch

10/28/2007

Main Identity

From: "Jay Gutierrez" <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
To: <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
Sent: Sunday, October 28, 2007 1:16 PM
Subject: Fw: the rocks

Linda is still doing Great!

hi jay i just wanted to tell you how much i appreciated the rocks, and the pack you sent me .they have really helped me a lot, my cancer wasnt real bad ,by the time they operated it was so small you could hardly see it. the dr said it was a bad picture she said trust me it was a lot worse than the picture showed. but to me a picture is worth a thousand words.before i hardly ever slept but ever since i have been using the rocks i sleep 9 to 10 hours every night. the dr said all the cancer is gone but i am still going to use the rocks.for other things and to make sure the cancer does not ever come back,I thank you so much I believe with all my heart that the rocks really shrunk my cancer. my husband is going to start using them soon. thank you so much.

Linda Mclemore

sp;

Main Identity

From: "Jay Gutierrez" <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
 To: <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
 Sent: Sunday, October 28, 2007 1:17 PM
 Subject: Fw: Merkel Cell Carcinoma

Maxine Murray, NO, CNHP, CNC
 Naturopath NAT100057
 Herb and Nutrition Researcher and Educator
 Phone: 717-630-0926
 Fax: 717-630-0958
 E-mail: maxmurray@aol.com

Mailing Address:
 PO Box 199
 Hanover, PA 17331

8 May 2007

Hi Jay,

Here's an update on my skin cancer lady. Got back her AMAS test results from Oncolabs on the on the 27th of April. She's clear. Florence is the 84 year-old lady up in Stockton, Massachusetts that you sent the small stones and the special small mud packs. She was diagnosed with Merkel Cell Carcinoma in late December after a skin specialist botched an attempt to remove what he thought was a small tumor from her cheek. It turned out to be a lot more than he imagined. Tissue samples were sent to the lab. The doctors told Florence that Merkel Cell is a rare form of skin cancer that has a poor cure rate. They proposed putting a port in her body so that they could administer chern a to try to "maintain" her for the rest of her life. She was appalled at the idea and called me for a nutritional protocol.

Well this one sure went very fast. Florence started her protocol around the 7th of March. The test was performed on the 23rd of April. That is barely seven week(s). She has been a delight to work with. She says that the protocol reminds her of the way she ate when she was growing up on the small family farm: All fresh food. We fashioned a sling that she could fit over her head so that the small stone could be secured right up against the mass on her cheek. She slept with it that way. Sometimes she would sleep with her cheek up against the small mud pack.

I am happy to say that the numbers on the test are all in the right place. I called Oncolabs just to be sure. We still have a little swelling to work on, but the malignancy is gone. I suspect that the swelling is scar tissue from the surgery. Will keep you posted if there are any new developments. I will send Florence back for another AMAS test in about eight months.

10/28/2007

Here's hoping this letter puts a smile on your face.

Blessings,

Maxine

See what's new at AOL.com and Make AOL Your Homepage.

Main Identity

From: "Jay Gutierrez" <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
 To: <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
 Sent: Sunday, October 28, 2007 1:19 PM
 Subject: Fw: The Stone and Radiation Hormesis

Hello Everyone,

I've been real busy lately and haven't had time to pass on any stories about people getting better. I did just receive a letter that I felt was well worth the time to stop and relay to everyone. As most of you know, I work mainly with cancer, but this story is from a woman that has had meningitis for the last 17 years and has had nothing short of a miracle happen to her. I will type this out word for word. Many of you in the medical field, please pay close attention. There's still alot to learn. God Bless.

Jay

Dear Jay,

Let me preface this letter with the fact that I was the Ultimate "Doubting Thomas"!

In early 1990, I was at the peak of my game. I was the assistant to the VP of the world's largest animal health products, running my own tax preparation company, and composing music. On June 30, my life came to a screeching halt. I was struck down with a rare form of spinal meningitis that not only attacked my spine and brain, it attacked my body. The doctors told me I contracted it from birds. I never kept birds as pets so it was very confusing to me how I could have picked up this awful debilitating disease. I have remembered tending to a sick bird in my yard. My IQ dropped from 145 to 93. I began showing signs of chronic fatigue syndrome, immune deficiency, sensory loss, memory loss, skin disorders, bladder disorder, COPD, seizures, fibro myalgia, chronic headaches and spine pain, and on and on. I was given morphine to control pain and many medications to control all my disorders. I went into severe clinical depression and just couldn't cope with all the major changes in my life. For many years I have suffered (as stoically as I could) through one health crisis after another. My doctors tried everyway possible to help me. I even spent 3 years at a rehab hospital desperately trying to overcome my difficulties. I managed to get out of a wheelchair after a year but I still have trouble 'falling down and walking into things. I can't tell you how many well-meaning people would bring me all the latest "cures". For a while I tried them and became broken-hearted when nothing worked. I sought out the best specialist in the country. Absolutely nothing seemed to help me. I had to accept the fact that I wasn't going to get any better. So, I just lived life the best way I could without complaining and bearing alot of terrible pain.

It has been 17 years of extreme diffiCULTy. Then a miracle did happen.

A friend of the family came home on vacation from Singapore and dropped by to visit. She brought me a stone called "The Stone". She had gotten this stone from a friend who had several. Her friend lived here in Phoenix and swore this stone would heal anything. Well, my "Doubting Thomas" nature kicked on and I set it down on the kitchen table with my myriad of med's. A few days later, I had one of my infamous headaches, my chest was hurting unbearably, my stomach was in pain and an oxygen tank had fallen on me and broke my left wrist. Early in the morning, out of sheer desperation, I saw the stone there on the table and began rubbing my wrist. It took the pain away immediately. As well as the bruise. So I rubbed it on my head, neck, chest and stomach. When I was finished, I was shocked to see my stone had gone from a light clay white to a very dark brown with large areas of round black spots. I used it for several days on my joints and other painful areas and the outcome was the same---- no pain after use!

I was beyond shocked!

Today, July 1, 2007, I was watching the concert for Princess Diana when Tom Jones came on a strange pattern was spinning on the screen behind him. It sent me into a grand mal seizure. My friend was helping me and she grabbed the stone and began rubbing my head with it. The seizure actually stopped after a few seconds and I didn't have the awful lethargic stupor afterwards!

There really is no other explanation for all this pain relief and what happened today-except The Stone.

Now, I will take any oath or swear on anything sacred that this is all true. My health condition is slowly improving (even though my spelling might be off!) and I want everyone I know to use this stone. I am getting my pain under control and spending more and more time out of bed ---up and doing things!

10/28/2007

I will give you permission to requisition medical records from any of my doctors if you wish to show just how sick I have been.

Please realize I am not W cured, but I'm moving in that direction day by day. For the first time in 17 years I have had days when I don't feel the horrible pain.

Thank you! Thank you! Thank you!

I cannot express how much gratitude I feel for your efforts and for my friend bringing me this miracle!

If you have any questions for me, please don't hesitate to contact me.

With my best regards and loving gratitude,
Cindy Pelletier

I just talked to Cindy today and she is doing fantastic! Funny thing is though, if you read her letter carefully, she was using a water stone. Interesting?

Main Identity

From: "Jay Gutierrez" <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
 To: <jaynighthawk@comcast.net>
 Sent: Sunday, October 28, 2007 1:20 PM
 Subject: Fw: Breast Cancer

Maxine Murray, NO, CNHP, CNC
 Naturopath NAT100057
 Herb and Nutrition Researcher and Educator
 Phone: 717-630-0926
 Fax: 717-630-0958
 E-mail: maxmurray@aol.com

Mailing Address:
 422 Boundary Avenue
 Hanover, PA 17331

20 August 2007

Dear Jay,

These are just a few lines to bring you up to date on the breast cancer case I told you about last month. Remember when I was considering using escharotics but feared that it would be too traumatic? As you know, I'm out here in the middle of Pennsylvania Dutch country where there are many Menonite and Amish villages. I am writing about the Menonite lady who took to her bed after an unfortunate fall that dislocated her hip. As I understand, her doctor refused to do anything for her. After he advised her earlier this year that she had breast cancer, she refused chemo, radiation, and surgery. They quarreled over her decision, so he told her that she might as well go home and call hospice.

Her family called me the first week in July about a nutritional protocol. What I walked in on was not a pretty sight. Her right breast was just a hard movable mass about three inches square. There were approximately half a dozen oozing sores which she said had been there since February. Nothing the doctor had given her had helped. She tried to keep it clean as best she could, but it was always oozing a very smelly discharge. You could pick up this odor when you walked in the front door long before you got to the bedroom. When I called you about her case, we talked about the connection of fungus to cancer, and decided that a "hot" rock would probably kill the fungus and allow the breast to start healing. You sent the rock out; I got it over to the family around the 29th of July. I advised that the rock be kept on the breast 24/7. This has not been the easiest family to work with, for they don't always understand the importance of keeping in touch. Finally, after three weeks of silence, I heard from them on Sunday. It was the lady herself, calling me, glad to report that not only had the sores gone away "almost overnight," but that the actual mass was softening and felt as if it might be shrinking. She said that, after putting on the rock, the oozing had stopped almost overnight and that every single one of the sores had started scabbing over in about two or three days. She was delighted to finally see new pink skin where the open sores had been. She said that she did not experience any discomfort. Having seen some success, she is ready to get serious with her nutrition.

10/28/2007

You know, I think this case is pretty remarkable, in that this woman is doing little or no supplements, plus she is osteoporotic. Her body has been very acidic for a long period of time and she has trouble remaining compliant to her nutritional protocol. Yet the breast is well on the way to healing. It just goes to prove one more time that we are dealing with fungus. The low dose radiation killed the fungus, and the breast started healing. I am so grateful that you were there to help me with this one. Thank you very much.

Maxine

See what's new at AOL.com and Make AOL Your Homepage.